MEDIASTAGE Stand D70
Think of how much it would cost you to run a studio with four cameras, lighting and mixing desk. MediaStage enables you to do that. There will be nothing better than this in the whole show.

The star of the show is MediaStage (£315). For a long time now we have heard about software that could make the UK into a kind of Hollywood of software. This could be the program that will lead the way. If you have the slightest interest in working with media in the classroom you should not leave the BETT show until you have seen this. Think of a TV studio, inside a PC, where you can control all the elements: lights, cameras, the set, furniture, the recorders, editing suite. You can even control the participants who will walk, talk and sit. You will want to blow all your eLCs on this.
